The South Reading Churches Funday out the Front last weekend was great! The feedback we have received from the community has been really positive, and the rain certainly didn't dampen the day. There were a number of small street parties, individual houses and Whitley Wood Community Centre involved. In one street neighbours were meeting each other for the first time. The highlight of the day was the home baked cakes! A big thank you to all those who baked for us, what a blessing that was to our community. One street told us they may just do this again even if the big fun day returns next year. Goes to show there is nothing like connecting with your neighbours and being a community together.
